RISK ASSESSMENT AND CONTROL OF RISK

Hazard identification

3A.4.1 (1) This regulation requires the identification of all reasonably foreseeable hazards to safety arising from an amusement structure, or systems associated with an amusement structure.

(2) In particular, any hazard associated with the following factors must be identified, insofar as they are relevant to the design, manufacture, erection, installation, commissioning, use or dismantling of the amusement structure:

- (a) the environmental conditions and terrain in which amusement structure may be used any foreseeable abnormal situations, situations of misuse, or fluctuations of operating conditions;
- (b) the potential for injury due to entanglement, crushing, trapping, cutting, stabbing, puncturing, shearing, abrasion, tearing or stretching;
- (c) the generation of hazardous conditions due to pressurised content, electricity, noise, radiation, friction, vibration, fire, explosion, temperature, moisture, vapour, gases, dust or hot or cold parts;
- (d) the failure of the amusement structure in a case involving the loss of load, unintended ejection of any piece or component, explosion, fragmentation or collapse of parts;
- (e) the ability of the amusement structure to lift and move people, and materials and the suitability of any secondary backup system to support the load;
- (f) any control systems, including guarding and communication systems;
- (g) the potential for falling objects;
- (h) the suitability of materials used for the amusement structure;
- (i) the suitability and condition of all accessories;
- (j) any ergonomic needs relating to installation and use;
- (k) the possibility of a hazard arising through failure to comply with any specified procedure;
- (l) the location of the amusement structure;
- (m) the suitability and stability of the amusement structure and supports;
- (n) any additional hazard that may arise from the presence of persons and plant in the vicinity;
- (o) the potential for inadvertent movement or operation of the amusement structure;
- (p) the need for, and the adequacy of, access and egress.

Risk assessment

3A.4.2 The method used for risk assessment must adequately address the hazards that have been identified and include one or more of the following:

- (a) a visual inspection of the amusement structure and any associated environment;
- (b) auditing;
- (c) testing;
- (d) technical or scientific evaluation;
- (e) an analysis of injury and near-miss data;
- (f) discussions with designers, manufacturers, suppliers, importers, employers, employees or any other relevant parties;
- (g) a quantitative hazard analysis.

Control of risk

3A.4.3 (1) One or more of the following must be used to eliminate or, if that is not reasonably practicable, minimise any risk to health or safety:

- (a) firstly, the application, so far as is reasonably practicable, of engineering controls, including substitution, isolation, modifications to design and guarding;
- (b) secondly, if steps taken under paragraph (a) do not minimise the risk, the application, so far as is reasonably practicable, of administrative controls, including safe work practices;
- (c) thirdly, if steps taken under paragraphs (a) and (b) do not minimise the risk, the provision of appropriate personal protective equipment.

Access/Egress

(2) There must be sufficient access and egress to any place where a person who uses or works with the amusement structure is expected to go.

Dangerous parts

(3) If risk assessment has identified a risk of exposure to a dangerous part during the operation, examination, or maintenance of any part of the amusement structure, that risk must be eliminated or, if that is not reasonably practicable, minimised.

Guarding

(4) If guarding is used as a control measure, a person with the responsibility for the control of risk must ensure that any guard is—

- (a) a permanently fixed physical barrier where no part of a person requires access to the dangerous area during normal operation; or
- (b) an interlocked physical barrier; or
- (c) if compliance with paragraph (a) or (b) is not reasonably practicable—a physical barrier securely fixed in position by means of fasteners or other suitable devices, which ensures that the guard cannot be inadvertently detached.

(5) If a guard is used in accordance with subregulation (4), it must be—

- (a) of solid construction and securely mounted so as to resist impact and shock; and
- (b) regularly maintained; and
- (c) designed so as not to cause a risk in itself.

Operational controls

(6) Operational controls must be—

- (a) suitably identified so as to indicate their nature and function; and
- (b) located so as to be readily and conveniently operated; and
- (c) located or guarded to prevent unintentional activation; and
- (d) able to be locked into the "off" position to enable the disconnection of all motive power and forces.

(7) If the amusement structure is designed to be operated or attended by more than one person and more than one control is fitted, the multiple controls must be of the "stop and lock-off" type so that the amusement structure cannot be restarted after a stop control has been used unless each stop control is reset.

Emergency stops and warning devices

(8) Emergency stop devices must—

- (a) be prominent, not recessed or shrouded, clearly and durably marked, and immediately accessible to each operator of the amusement structure; and
- (b) have handles, bars or push buttons coloured red; and
- (c) as far as reasonably practicable, operate reliably and be fail-safe.

(9) If a risk assessment identifies a need to have an emergency warning device, such a device must be installed in a position which enables its purpose to be achieved easily and effectively.
