Default Contract Prices

NOTICE is hereby given that in accordance with section 36AB of the Electricity Act 1996 (SA) TXU Electricity Limited (ABN 91 064 651 118) ('TXU') hereby publishes its default contract prices. TXU's default contract prices will come into effect 28 days from the date of this notice.

The prices detailed in this notice apply for default customers only of TXU and are to be read with TXU's Default Contract Terms and Conditions published in the Government Gazette on 27 February 2003.

TXU has based its default contract price on the pricing of one of its South Australian market contracts (specifically, the 'TXU Residential and Business Options' market contract). TXU relied upon and adopted the justifiable cost components provided by the Essential Services Commission of South Australia (in Part 3 of its Electricity Industry Guideline No. 10—Electricity Retail Price Justification) in determining the default contract price.

The default contract price is constructed:

- (1) without differentiated summer pricing; and
- (2) with no additional fixed supply charge for off peak usage.

TXU reserves the right to change its default contract price from time to time acting in accordance with all applicable regulations.
