DEVELOPMENT ACT 1993, SECTION 27 (5): CITY OF VICTOR HARBOR RESIDENTIAL (HINDMARSH VALLEY) DEVELOPMENT PLAN AMENDMENT

Preamble

Pursuant to section 27 (3) (b) of the Development Act 1993, the Environment, Resources and Development Committee of Parliament has suggested an amendment to the Victor Harbor Development Plan, as recently amended by the Residential (Hindmarsh Valley) Development Plan Amendment.

Following this suggestion, pursuant to section 27 (5) (a), I, Paul Holloway, being the Minister Administering the Act, am proceeding to make such an amendment to amend the City of Victor Harbor Development Plan dated 8 January 2009.

NOTICE

PURSUANT to section 27 (5) of the Development Act 1993, I, Paul Holloway, being the Minister Administering the Act, amend the City of Victor Harbor Development Plan dated 8 January 2009 as follows:

1. Replace the whole of the Residential (Hindmarsh Valley) Zone Policy Area 24 with the contents of Attachment A.
2. Replace the whole of the Residential (Hindmarsh Valley) Zone Policy Area 25 with the contents of Attachment B.

THE AMENDMENTS

Attachment A*Residential (Hindmarsh Valley) Zone Policy Area 24Desired Character*

This Policy Area will comprise a range of low-to-medium density residential development. Denser residential development will be located in close proximity to key features of the site, including Waggon Road and the Hindmarsh River. Clear and direct bicycle and pedestrian networks will be provided within this Policy Area between public recreation facilities along the Hindmarsh River and the Deferred Community Facilities Zone.

Objective

Objective 1: Development that contributes to the Desired Character for Policy Area 24.

Principles of Development Control

1. Allotments for detached dwellings and semi-detached dwellings should conform with the following minimum site areas and frontages:

Dwelling Type	Minimum Site Area (m ²)	Minimum Frontage (m)
Detached	450 per dwelling	12 per dwelling
Semi-Detached	270 per dwelling	9 per dwelling

2. Medium density residential development should be located adjacent the Neighbourhood Centre Zone, fronting the public open space along the Hindmarsh River, other substantial areas of public open space and along Waggon Road, and should conform with the following minimum site areas and frontages:

Dwelling Type	Minimum Site Area (m ²)	Minimum Frontage (m)
Row Dwelling (one storey)	180 per dwelling	7 per dwelling
Row Dwelling (two storey)	150 per dwelling	7 per dwelling
Group Dwellings and Residential Flat Buildings (one storey)	250 per dwelling	6 per dwelling
Group Dwellings and Residential Flat Buildings (two storey)	200 per dwelling	6 per dwelling

3. Dwellings on site areas of less than those prescribed in Principle of Development Control 1 and 2 above should only occur where the buildings are of a scale and character compatible with other existing development in the locality, and are designed to minimise adverse impacts such as garage dominance, overshadowing and overlooking.
4. Land division creating residential site areas less than those prescribed in Principle of Development Control 1 and 2 above should only occur where:
 - (a) dwellings on the land have been granted approval; and
 - (b) the approved dwellings are under construction; or
 - (c) approval for land division includes a legal commitment that the approved dwellings will be constructed.
5. Dwellings should be in the form of 1 and 2 storey dwellings, with potential for 3 storey dwellings in the higher density parts of the Policy Area.
6. In the case of multiple dwellings on one site, access to parking and garaging areas from public streets should be primarily via a minimum number of common driveways or rear laneways, particularly along Waggon Road so as to preserve significant trees and minimise traffic impacts along this road.
7. Dwellings should be oriented to front public open space, or roads adjoining public open space, to ensure the attractive presentation of development when viewed from Waggon Road and Welch Road, while also encouraging passive and active surveillance of public open space.
8. In order to provide sufficient land for any future duplication of the road, as well as visual, acoustic and air quality buffering for nearby residential development, a landscaped buffer should be provided along the Ring Road/Welch Road as indicated on the Hindmarsh Valley Concept Plan Figure VH(HiV)/1.
9. Stormwater infrastructure and design features that assist in the management of stormwater from within this Policy Area should be accommodated opposite the intersection of Fuller Road and Waggon Road.
10. Mature trees along Waggon Road should be preserved and complemented with additional understorey and over-storey vegetation.
11. Land division and other forms of development should incorporate clear and direct bicycle and pedestrian networks between the public recreation facilities along the Hindmarsh River, the Neighbourhood Centre Zone and the Deferred Community Facilities Zone.

Attachment B

Residential (Hindmarsh Valley) Zone Policy Area 25

Desired Character

This Policy Area will comprise primarily low density residential development designed to integrate with key areas of public open space along drainage lines and preserve mature trees throughout the Policy Area. Development will be protected from the potential impact of flooding.

Objective

Objective 1: Development that contributes to the Desired Character for Policy Area 25.

Principles of Development Control

1. Allotments for detached dwellings should conform with the following minimum site areas and frontages:

Dwelling Type	Minimum Site Area (m ²)	Minimum Frontage (m)
Detached	800 per dwelling	15 per dwelling

2. Higher density residential development should be located fronting substantial areas of public open space and along Waggon Road, and should conform with the following minimum site areas and frontages:

Dwelling Type	Minimum Site Area (m ²)	Minimum Frontage (m)
Row Dwelling (one storey)	180 per dwelling	7 per dwelling
Row Dwelling (two storey)	150 per dwelling	7 per dwelling
Group Dwellings and Residential Flat Buildings (one storey)	250 per dwelling	6 per dwelling
Group Dwellings and Residential Flat Buildings (two storey)	200 per dwelling	6 per dwelling

3. Dwellings on site areas of less than those prescribed in Principle of Development Control 1 above should only occur where the buildings are of a scale and character compatible with other existing development in the locality, and are designed to minimise adverse impacts such as removal of mature trees, garage dominance, overshadowing and overlooking.
4. Land division creating residential site areas less than those prescribed in Principle of Development Control 1 and 2 above should only occur where:
 - (a) dwellings on the land have been granted approval; and
 - (b) the approved dwellings are under construction; or
 - (c) approval for land division includes a legal commitment that the approved dwellings will be constructed.
5. Dwellings should primarily be in the form of 1 and 2 storey detached dwellings.
6. Development should preserve and enhance the visual prominence of mature trees scattered throughout this Policy Area, while also complementing these trees with additional under-storey and over-storey vegetation.
7. Stormwater infrastructure and design features that assist in the management of stormwater from within this Policy Area should be accommodated in the eastern corner of this Policy Area adjacent to the Hindmarsh River.
8. A combined vehicle, bicycle and pedestrian crossing of the Hindmarsh River should be provided at a narrow point in the river corridor towards the north-east corner of this Policy Area.
9. Development should not occur on land subject to inundation by a 1 in 100 year ARI flood event.
10. Dwellings should be oriented to front public open space, or roads adjoining public open space, to ensure the attractive presentation of development when viewed from Waggon Road, while also encouraging passive and active surveillance of the public open space.
11. Mature trees along Waggon Road should be preserved and complemented with additional understorey and over-storey vegetation.
12. In the case of multiple dwellings on one site, access to parking and garaging areas from public streets should be primarily via a minimum number of common driveways or rear laneways, particularly along Waggon Road and the road leading to the bridge over the Hindmarsh River so as to preserve significant trees and minimise traffic impacts along these roads.

Guidelines
for Nurses and Midwives in South Australia

The Australian Nursing and Midwifery Council's Guidelines: The responsibilities of the nurse and midwife in the event of a declared national emergency was endorsed by the Nurses Board of South Australia on 6 March 2009 and implemented for all nurses and midwives in South Australia from 8 June 2009.

Preamble

The Australian Nursing and Midwifery Council (ANMC) leads a national approach with state and territory nursing and midwifery regulatory authorities (NMRAs) in evolving national standards for regulation of the nursing and midwifery professions that are flexible, effective and responsive to the health care requirements of the Australian population. The standards are developed in relation to the current regulatory and legislative environments that govern healthcare in Australia.

The purpose of regulation is the protection of the public. To this end, the ANMC safeguards the interests of the community by promoting high standards of nursing and midwifery practice through the development and maintenance of competency standards and the development of position statements and guidelines.

ANMC guidelines are part of the professional practice framework which provides assistance to nurses and midwives in relation to their practice obligations. This guideline aims to advise nurses and midwives about their responsibilities with regard to responding in a declared national emergency, a situation identified by the process for agreement of a national emergency under the National Emergency Protocol.¹

Introduction

National emergency planning and management, both internationally and in Australia, has assumed heightened significance in recent years from two different but increasingly life-threatening scenarios: the threat of terrorist attack and the threat of pandemic influenza. In addition to the threat of a natural emergency (earthquake, fire, flood), the threat of a major trauma event or a disease epidemic raises a series of management issues for which plans need to be made, including the deployment and co-ordination of healthcare personnel.

In Australia, national emergency preparedness and response is principally the responsibility of the states and territories as it lies within their purview of healthcare.² The federal government has the ability to assist the responses of the states and territories by deploying the national defence force, for instance, and by coordinating responses across state and territory boundaries where the event involves one or more states or territories.³ Through Emergency Management Australia, the federal government supports a comprehensive approach to emergency management in relation to 'all hazards'.⁴ The threat of pandemic influenza, in particular, clearly highlights the need for both a national and international level of co-ordination, given the rapidity with which a virus can spread.

In 2006, the federal government developed the Australian Health Management Plan for Pandemic Influenza (AHMPPI) and staged a simulated response through Exercise Cumpston. The AHMPPI outlines the health response to a pandemic situation and builds on the Australian Management Plan for Pandemic Influenza (2005) which describes the Commonwealth government's role in pandemic preparedness.⁵ Exercise Cumpston was staged to test the 'capacity and capability of the Australian health system to prevent, detect and respond to an influenza pandemic'.⁶ At an international level, the World Health Organisation (WHO) Global Influenza Preparedness Plan (2005), together with the International Health Regulations, revised and adopted by the World Health Assembly in 2005 and which came into force in June 2007, aims for a consistent approach to preparedness planning across nation states.⁷

Emergency situations tax the skills and abilities of health workers to the fullest. It is paramount that nurses and midwives are prepared, in at least basic terms, to meet the challenges posed by a national emergency and to respond in ways that optimise their care for and protection of the public. Nurses and midwives, in any number of ways, and in relation to any emergency scenario, will be central to coordinated response efforts. In a pandemic, nurses will be required to: function as front-line carers; administer vaccines [and anti-virals]; enact local pandemic plans; and help maintain public health standards and contain anxiety.⁸ In all the care contexts envisaged as likely in the event of a pandemic—from dedicated 'flu clinics' to general practice surgeries, from intermediary care sites to hospitals,⁹ nurses and midwives will be centrally involved, and 'border nurses' will be required to help screen international visitors to Australia for symptoms of disease.¹⁰ In the event of a major trauma, nurses and midwives equally would be pivotal to any co-ordinated response, from planning to implementation, and senior nursing staff have an important role to play in establishing a chain of command.¹¹

The Australian College of Midwives and the International Confederation of Midwives do not currently have policies related to midwives and disaster response. Midwives, however, working within their scope of practice, would have an important role to play. Their skills and knowledge would be important in rendering care to pregnant women and babies, two of the most at-risk groups in a disaster, particularly in a mass casualty event. The special needs of pregnant women during a disaster have been highlighted by the American College of Nurse-Midwives in the wake of Hurricane Katrina and in relation to their 'all hazards preparedness' initiatives.¹²

Nursing and midwifery organisations internationally and in Australia have varied levels of involvement in emergency preparedness planning and take a range of positions on what level of preparedness nurses and midwives should have. A degree of knowledge and skill is considered essential for every nurse and midwife to respond appropriately should they find themselves in a national emergency, but not all nurses and midwives can or should be trained as 'first responders'.¹³ To date, Australia has adopted no generic emergency response competencies for nurses and midwives, though the debate continues as to whether and in what form disaster training should be included in undergraduate and postgraduate curricula. Competencies have been developed internationally to assist the implementation of disaster training in nursing curricula.¹⁴

Participation in a national emergency response has to be a personal decision. The nurse or midwife must make a conscious decision to respond—weighing their personal circumstances against the risks involved: their obligation to protect themselves as well as to provide care to others.¹⁵ For example, in the event of a pandemic, nurses and midwives may choose not to take part in relief efforts that may expose themselves and others to the risk of contracting the disease. Nurses and midwives are encouraged to give early consideration to these issues that may inform any decisions that they may make should the circumstances require.¹⁶ Those decisions should take into account their current health and vaccination status.

From a regulatory and/or legal perspective, the engagement of nurses and midwives in a declared national emergency raises three principal questions: firstly, what are the legal parameters of practice at a time of emergency or disaster? Secondly, is s/he competent to perform the role assigned to him/her, and thirdly is the nurse or midwife appropriately registered* and/or insured to practise in the state or territory to which s/he is deployed.

In the event of a declared national emergency it is unlikely that internationally-trained nurses or midwives would be brought into the country. Conversely, plans have been made, in the event that Australian nurses need to be deployed overseas, to repatriate Australians involved in mass casualty events in other countries,¹⁷ and the Ausassistplan has been developed for Australian relief efforts abroad.¹⁸

Legal parameters of practice

Nurses and midwives responding to a declared national emergency need to understand the laws that govern their level of involvement in an emergency response in the state or territory in which they are rendering assistance, for instance: the duty of care that is owed to the distressed person by the person providing the care; the standard of care that is expected; and consent issues.¹⁹ Nurses and midwives responding as volunteers rather than as paid health employees may need to be aware of the Commonwealth Volunteers Protection Act 2003 (Commonwealth).²⁰ If responding to an international emergency, additional knowledge would be required: an understanding of relevant aspects of international law,²¹ and the principles of cultural competence and safety.

In terms of the duty of care owed and the standard of care owed to a distressed person in an emergency, the general principle under common law is that a person is not required to put themselves at risk to rescue another person. However, clearly once a nurse or midwife decides to render assistance, the reasonable standard of care expected of an 'ordinary' nurse or midwife is owed. In certain states or territories there is an expectation that a person will render assistance in an emergency, although clearly not to the extent that they endanger themselves. The nurse or midwife therefore needs to be aware of the legislation governing the relevant state or territory in this regard.

In addition, nurses and midwives responding to a national emergency need to be aware of the personal risks involved and take appropriate precautions. These may include the use of personal protective equipment and ensuring that they have appropriate indemnity insurance cover. The International Council of Nurses' 2001 Position Statement 'Nurses and Disaster Preparedness' makes special mention of the need for attention to be given to nurses' health, accident and indemnity insurance coverage.²²

Licensure

Nurses and midwives may be involved in response efforts within the state or territory in which they are currently licensed to practice or in other states or territories. Where the nurse or midwife is responding in another state or territory to the one in which s/he is currently licensed to practise, s/he will need to be aware of the Mutual Recognition Act.

Under the Mutual Recognition Act 1992 (Commonwealth), a person pursuing an occupation in one state or territory in Australia is entitled to register to practise the equivalent occupation in another state or territory, subject to meeting the terms and conditions for practise in the other state or territory.²³ This applies to nurses and midwives moving from one state or territory to another or practising in more than one state or territory at the same time (for example, nurses and midwives practising telehealth across jurisdictions). The Mutual Recognition Act 1992 (Commonwealth) provides that, pending the grant or refusal of registration in the new state or territory, the person applying for registration is considered to have 'deemed registration' in the new state or territory and entitled to practise her/his occupation.

Written documentation must be supplied to the registering authority that states, among other requirements, that the person is registered for the occupation in the first state, and be accompanied by a copy of the applicant's existing registration. While this provision covers nurses and midwives entering a new state or territory to practise, in an emergency response situation there may be insufficient time to provide the required documentation to the registering authority. Should a nurse or midwife decide to volunteer in a second or subsequent state or territory where they do not hold current registration, it is required that they first clarify their authority to practise with the relevant state or territory's regulatory authority. Where this is not possible due to lack of time, it is recommended that the nurse or midwife carry their current practising certificate with them, together with some form of photo identification, for the duration of the declared emergency.

Competence

Nurses and midwives are encouraged to respond only as part of organised response efforts in accordance with the operational plan of their workplace, volunteer response organisation or local health authority, as volunteering spontaneously in emergency situations can add to the burden of coordinating care for those affected.²⁴

It is particularly important in an emergency situation for nurses and midwives to understand the context in which they are practising and their individual competence. The professional practice framework for nurses and midwives provided by the ANMC and state and territory regulatory authorities (comprising practice standards, codes and guidelines) continues to apply in emergency response situations. As with all nursing and midwifery contexts, nurses and midwives are responsible for deciding whether the activities they undertake in the course of caring for others fall within their scope of practice.

Valuable assistance in understanding the decision-making processes is provided in the ANMC National Decision-Making Framework for Nurses (2007) and its counterpart for Midwives. In a declared national emergency these continue to provide nurses and midwives with guidance in determining how best they can contribute their expertise.

Guidelines

ANMC recommends that nurses and midwives responding in the event of a declared national emergency respond only as part of an organised response effort and:

Legal parameters of practice

- Be aware of the laws that relate to their level of involvement in emergency response;

- Understand their obligation to protect themselves and take appropriate precautions, including the use of personal protective equipment, and to determine what level of response, given their personal circumstances, that they wish to make;
- Clarify the requirement for professional indemnity in all relevant states or territories as soon as possible after deciding to respond to the emergency;

Licensure

- Ensure that they have current registration*;
- Produce evidence of their current practising certificate together with some form of photo identification;
- Inform relevant state or territory regulatory authority that they are working with an emergency team.

Competence

- Practise within the professional practice framework: ANMC Codes of Ethics; ANMC Codes of Professional Conduct; ANMC National Competency Standards; ANMC National Decision-Making Framework and other relevant professional standards, such as the and state or territory scope of practice documents;
- Understand the context in which they are practising and their individual competence;
- Be familiar with their professional role in emergency response and chain of command; and
- Be familiar with workplace or local health authority operational plans for emergency response.

*The term 'registration' applies to nurses who are licensed, enrolled, endorsed, or authorised to practise, and includes DIV1 and DIV2 in Victoria.

Not all state or territory legislation requires insurance. The nurse or midwife should ascertain the requirements in the states or territories to which they are deployed.

- 2.2 Subject to Clause 2.3 of this Determination, where an employer provides its return pursuant to section 69 (1) of the Act to the Corporation other than electronically via the Corporation's website, <http://www.workcover.com>, the levy payable by that employer will not be payable in accordance with section 69 (3) of the Act, but instead will be payable in accordance with the following requirements:
- (a) following receipt of the employer's return pursuant to section 69 (1) of the Act, the Corporation will issue the employer with a tax invoice for the amount of levy payable by the employer on aggregate remuneration in the relevant class or classes of industry based on the estimate or estimates set out in the return; and
 - (b) the employer must pay the levy payable in respect of the relevant financial year as a lump sum, as set out in the tax invoice issued by the Corporation, by 31 August in the financial year in respect of which the levy is payable or such later date as may be specified in the tax invoice.
- 2.3 Notwithstanding Clause 2.2 of this Determination, where, in the opinion of a person holding delegated or sub-delegated power to form such an opinion from the Corporation ('the Delegated Officer(s)'), formed from information provided to or otherwise obtained by the Corporation (including, without limitation, any return provided by the employer pursuant to section 69 (1) of the Act), any employer is likely to be liable to pay an annual levy in relation to the financial year ending 30 June 2010 of not more than $2 000 (a 'small employer'), the levy payable by the employer in respect of the financial year ending 30 June 2010 will not be payable in accordance with section 69 (3) of the Act, but instead will be payable by 31 January 2010.
- 2.4 Where, in the opinion of a Delegated Officer, a small employer should not for any reason whatsoever, be entitled to pay levies according to the requirements set out in Clause 2.3 of this Determination the Corporation may by written notice to the employer revoke those requirements.
- 2.5 Where:
- (a) an employer is not a small employer (a 'large employer'); and
 - (b) that employer provides its return pursuant to section 69 (1) of the Act to the Corporation electronically via the Corporation's website, <http://www.workcover.com>; and
 - (c) that employer does not make payment in full of the levy payable in respect of a financial year pursuant to section 69 (3) of the Act,
- the levy payable by that employer will not be payable in accordance with section 69 (3) of the Act, but instead will be payable in accordance with the following requirements:
- (d) the levy will be payable by the employer to the Corporation in ten equal instalments on or before 7 September, 7 October, 7 November, 7 December, 7 January, 7 February, 7 March, 7 April, 7 May and 7 June of the financial year in respect of which the levy is payable;
 - (e) the ten equal instalments of the levy will be paid by electronic means to the account of the Corporation;

- (f) if the employer fails to make an instalment by a date specified in Clause 2.5 (d) of this Determination or in the manner specified in Clause 2.5 (e) of this Determination, a Delegated Officer shall be empowered to issue the employer with a tax invoice for the amount of levy payable by the employer in respect of the relevant financial that remains unpaid at that time; and
- (g) if the employer is issued with a tax invoice pursuant to Clause 2.5 (f) of this Determination, then notwithstanding Clause 2.5 (d) of this Determination the employer must pay the amount set out in the invoice to the Corporation as a lump sum within 14 days of the date of the invoice or by such later date as may be specified in the tax invoice.
- 2.6 In this Determination, the term 'electronic means' means payment by way of direct debit from the employer's bank account, electronic funds transfer to a bank account nominated for the purpose by the Corporation, electronic payment via the Corporation's website, <http://www.workcover.com>, BPAY, credit card (Visa or Mastercard), or any other electronic form of payment nominated by the Corporation for the purpose from time to time and, for the avoidance of doubt, does not include payment by cash, personal cheque, bank cheque or set-off.
- 2.7 Where, in the opinion of a Delegated Officer, a large employer should not for any reason whatsoever, be entitled to pay levies according to the requirements set out in Clause 2.5 of this Determination the Corporation may by written notice to the employer revoke or vary those requirements.

Item 3 Grounds of Determination

- 3.1 In respect of the requirements set out in Clause 2.2 of this Determination, that in the case of employers that provide returns other than electronically via the Corporation's website, the internal systems of the Corporation require it to issue a tax invoice for payment before the payment of levies can be received by the Corporation and, accordingly, the requirements of section 69 (3) of the Act are not appropriate.
- 3.2 In respect of the requirements set out in Clause 2.3 of this Determination, that in the case of employers likely to pay an annual levy of not more than $2 000, those employers are likely to have been subject to an exemption from the requirements of the previous version of section 69 of the Act which allowed them to pay the levy payable in respect of the financial year ending 30 June 2009 in a single payment by 31 July 2009 and that, as a result of amendments to section 69 of the Act requiring employers to pay levies in advance, it would be onerous to require such employers to pay the levy payable in respect of the financial year ending 30 June 2010 in a single payment by the same time or shortly thereafter.
- 3.3 In respect of the requirements set out in Clause 2.5 of this Determination, that in the case of employers likely to pay an annual levy of more than $2 000, it is reasonable to allow those employers to make payment of that levy by electronic means in ten equal monthly instalments.

Item 4 Commencement Date of Determination

1 July 2009.

Item 5 Notice of Determination

That notice of this Determination be given in the South Australian Government Gazette.

Confirmed as a true and correct record of the decision of the Corporation made in the exercise of my delegated authority from the Corporation.

Dated 18 May 2009.

WORKERS REHABILITATION AND COMPENSATION ACT 1986

Determination

The WORKCOVER CORPORATION OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA ('the Corporation') in accordance with those provisions of the WORKERS REHABILITATION AND COMPENSATION ACT 1986, as amended ('the WRCA') and the WORKCOVER CORPORATION ACT 1994, as amended ('the WCA') identified in Item 1 of the Schedule hereto ('the Schedule') makes its determination in the terms set out in Item 2 of the Schedule, upon the grounds set out in Item 3 of the Schedule, if any, to come into effect on the date set out in Item 4 of the Schedule and determines further that notice of this determination shall be provided in the manner set out in Item 5 of the Schedule, if any, and further for the purposes of this determination the Corporation pursuant to section 17 of the WCA delegates those powers or functions of the Corporation set out in Item 6 of the Schedule to the person or persons named therein ('the Delegate') subject to the conditions and limitations specified for that purpose in this Determination.

SCHEDULE

Item 1 Section Empowering Determination

Sections 67 and 69 (4) of the WRCA and Section 17 of the WCA.

Item 2 Terms of Determination

A. Imposition of Interim Levy Adjustment.

2.1 This Determination shall not apply at all to self-insured employers.

2.2 If a Levy Adjustment occurs in relation to a particular employer during the course of a financial year, then the Delegate will calculate the quantity Δ in respect of each workplace of the employer (whether a new or existing workplace) affected by the Levy Adjustment (an 'affected workplace') in accordance with the following formula:

$$\Delta = ER \times (NLR - OLR) \times \frac{x}{12}$$

where:

(a) ER or Estimated Remuneration is:

- (i) if no notice of adjustment of levy has been issued to the employer pursuant to section 69E (1) of the WRCA in respect of the relevant financial year, the estimate of the aggregate remuneration that the employer expected to pay to the employer's workers at the affected workplace during the relevant financial year as set out in the return provided to the Corporation by the employer pursuant to section 69 (1) of the WRCA; or
- (ii) if a notice of adjustment of levy has been issued to the employer pursuant to section 69E (1) of the WRCA in respect of the relevant financial year, the estimate of the aggregate remuneration expected to be paid to the employer's workers at the affected workplace during the relevant financial year used in the most recent such notice of adjustment issued in respect of that financial year;

(b) NLR or New Levy Rate is the levy rate applicable to the affected workplace immediately after the Levy Adjustment;

(c) OLR or Old Levy Rate is:

- (i) if no notice of remission has previously been granted to, and no supplementary levy has previously been imposed on, the employer pursuant to this Determination in respect of the relevant financial year, the levy rate applicable to the affected workplace as at the commencement of the relevant financial year; and
- (ii) if a notice of remission has previously been granted to, or a supplementary levy has previously been imposed on, the employer pursuant to this Determination in respect of the relevant financial year, the levy rate applicable to the affected workplace immediately after the Levy Adjustment that gave rise to that remission or supplementary levy;

(d) x is the number of whole calendar months remaining in the financial year after:

- (i) the date of the Levy Adjustment or the date on which the grant of remission or imposition of the supplementary levy is notified to the employer, whichever is later; or
- (ii) a different date than that referred to in paragraph (i) (which may be earlier or later than that date) as determined by the Delegate if the Delegate considers it appropriate to do so having regard to the objects of this Determination and any particular circumstances of the employer, the Levy Adjustment or the affected workplace.

2.3 If Δ for an affected workplace is positive, then a supplementary levy will be imposed on the employer in respect of that workplace in the amount of Δ .

- 2.4 If Δ for an affected workplace is negative, then a remission will be granted to the employer in respect of that workplace in the amount of the absolute value of Δ .

B. Adjustment of remissions and supplements

- 2.5 In order to give effect to this Determination and section 67 of the WRCA in a manner which will best achieve the objects of the WRCA under section 2 of the WRCA and the primary objects of the Corporation under section 12 of the WCA, the Delegate may adjust the operation or application of the remissions and supplementary levies set out in paragraphs 2.3 and 2.4 above respectively as follows:

- (a) the Delegate may grant a remission to, or impose a supplementary levy on, a particular location or locations at which the particular employer employs workers or may grant a remission to, or impose a supplementary levy on, the particular employer as a whole; and
- (b) the Delegate may determine that two or more employers will constitute a group for the purposes of Division 4 of Part V of the WRCA if:
 - (i) they are capable of being treated as members of a group under the Pay-roll Tax Act 1971, as amended; or
 - (ii) they are related in some other way,

and treat this Determination as applicable to that group of employers as if a reference in this Determination to an 'employer' was a reference to that group of employers, and may nominate, after consultation with the members of the group, one of the employers to be treated as the employer of all workers employed by members of that group; and

- (c) if the employer is treated by the Corporation pursuant to section 66 (5) of the WRCA as employing workers at a single location in more than one class of industry, the Delegate may make such adjustment to the calculation of the remission or supplementary levy determined under Part A as the Delegate thinks fit, having regard to the grounds for this determination set out in Item 3 and the objects of the WRCA under section 2 of the WRCA and the primary objects of the Corporation under section 12 of the WCA.

C. Payment

- 2.6 Any remission granted to a particular employer pursuant to section 67 of the WRCA under this Determination will be payable to the employer as follows:

- (a) the Corporation may set-off any remission payable to the employer against any levy (including any supplementary levy) payable by the employer; or
- (b) if the employer is an Instalment Payer and there remain instalments for the financial year that have not yet become payable, then the amount (if any) of the remission that has not already been set-off against a levy under paragraph (a) will be credited to the employer by way of a reduction in some or all of the instalments that remain unpaid by the employer for that financial year as specified in a notice given by the Corporation to the employer; or
- (c) if:
 - (i) the particular employer is not an Instalment Payer; or
 - (ii) the particular employer is an Instalment Payer but there remain no instalments for the financial year that have not yet been paid; or
 - (iii) the particular employer is an Instalment Payer and there remain instalments for the financial year that have not yet been paid but the instalments that remain unpaid for the financial year are less than the remission payable to the employer, then the Corporation will pay to the employer the amount (if any) of the remission that has not already been set-off under paragraph (a) or credited to the employer by way of a reduction in an Instalment Payer's remaining instalments under paragraph (b) by way of a lump sum or otherwise pay or credit the amount to the employer in such other manner as the Delegate determines.

- 2.7 Pursuant to section 69 (4) (c) of the WRCA, the Corporation gives notice that any supplementary levy imposed on a particular employer pursuant to section 67 of the WRCA under this Determination will not be payable in accordance with section 69 (3) of the WRCA, but instead will be payable by the employer as follows:

- (a) if the employer is an Instalment Payer and there remain instalments for the financial year that have not yet been paid, then the amount (if any) of the supplementary levy that has not already been set-off against a remission or remissions under paragraph 2.6 (a) will be payable by the employer by way of an increase in some or all of the instalments that remain unpaid by the employer for that financial year as specified in a notice given by the Corporation to the employer; or

- (b) if:
- (i) the particular employer is not an Instalment Payer; or
 - (ii) the particular employer is an Instalment Payer but there remain no instalments for the financial year that have not yet been paid,
- then:
- (iii) the Corporation will issue the employer with a tax invoice for the amount (if any) of the supplementary levy that has not already been set-off against a remission or remissions under paragraph 2.6 (a); and
 - (iv) the employer must pay the supplementary levy as a lump sum, as set out in the tax invoice issued by the Corporation, within 14 days or such longer period as may be specified in the tax invoice.

D. Definitions

2.8 In this Determination:

- (a) 'financial year' means the 12 months ending on 30 June unless, in respect of a particular employer, the Corporation has determined pursuant to section 69 (8) of the WRCA that the employer pay levy with respect to some other period, in which case a reference in this Determination to a 'financial year' in respect of that employer shall be read as referring to that other period.
- (b) 'Instalment Payer' means an employer that is paying levy for the relevant financial year by way of instalments pursuant to a notice given by the Corporation pursuant to section 69 (4) of the WRCA (other than a notice in this Determination).
- (c) 'Levy Adjustment' means a change in the levy rate, or any of the levy rates, used to calculate the levy payable by an employer as a result of:
 - (i) the fixing or variation of a levy rate applicable to the employer by the Corporation pursuant to section 66 (6) of the WRCA;
 - (ii) a change in the class or classes of industry in which the employer employs workers or a change in the allocation of the employers' workers between those classes of industries;
 - (iii) the alteration of a levy rate by the WorkCover Levy Review Panel as a result of a review of a decision of the Corporation pursuant to section 72 of the WRCA; or
 - (iv) any other circumstance (other than a circumstance affecting only the estimate of aggregate remuneration paid by the employer to the employer's workers or the grant of another remission or the imposition of another supplementary levy under section 67 of the WRCA) which, if known at the time of the return provided to the Corporation by the employer pursuant to section 69 (1) of the WRCA, would have resulted in the employer paying a different amount of levy based on the estimate or estimates set out in the return, where that change would not otherwise result in a corresponding change in the levy payable by the employer as a result of the operation of section 69E of the WRCA.

Item 3 Grounds of Determination

That, where levies are payable by employers in the first instance on the basis of an estimate of remuneration made by the employer at the start of the financial year and by reference to the levy rates applicable to the employer at that time, and where levy rates may change during the course of the year or the levy rates applicable to a particular employer may change during the course of the year due to a change in the operations or circumstances of the employer, it is reasonable to grant a remission to, or impose a supplementary levy on, a particular employer to give effect to any such change in levy rates occurring during a financial year.

Further, that it is reasonable to allow the Corporation to set-off any remission(s) payable to an employer against any levy (or levies) payable by the employer, to pay any remission that has not been set-off to an employer by way of a lump sum payment or to credit the employer in some other way or, in the case of an employer paying levy in instalments, by decreasing the amount of any remaining instalments, and to require the payment of any supplementary levy that has not been set-off by way of a lump sum payment upon an invoice being issued by the Corporation or, in the case of an employer paying levy in instalments, by increasing the amount of any remaining instalments.

Item 4 Commencement Date of Determination

1 July 2009.

Item 5 Notice of Determination

This Determination shall be published in the Government Gazette.

Item 6 Delegation by Board

That the officer of the Corporation occupying (or acting in) the position designated by the Corporation as the Chief Financial Officer be delegated (in addition to and not in derogation of such other delegated powers and functions of the Corporation delegated to that officer) ('the Delegate') such of the powers and functions of the Corporation pursuant to the WRCA as are necessary to give effect to this Determination.

Confirmed as a true and accurate record of the decision of the Corporation.

- (a) the induction loop vehicle detector (induction loop) must be installed under the surface of the road;
 - (b) the camera or cameras forming part of the device must be positioned and aimed, and the induction loop linked up, so that when vehicles are proceeding over that part of the road under which the induction loop is installed, a photograph or series of photographs may be taken of the vehicles from the front or from the rear;
 - (c) the device must be programmed and set to operate so that if a vehicle is detected by the device passing over the induction loop at a speed equal to or greater than a speed set on the device, at least 2 exposures are taken, or at least 2 electronic records are made, of that vehicle from the front or from the rear—
 - (i) at least 1 of which is taken or made following a programmed delay after the first is taken or made; and
 - (ii) on at least 1 of which is recorded the speed of the vehicle as detected by the device; and
 - (iii) on each of which is recorded the date, time and code for the location at which the exposure or record is taken or made, together with the lane in which the vehicle is travelling;
 - (d) subject to paragraph (e), once in every 7 days—

- (i) a test must be carried out (by reference to speeds not exceeding the speed-limit applying to drivers driving vehicles on the length of road under which the induction loop is installed) to ensure that the device detects vehicles passing over the induction loop and accurately indicates the speed of any vehicle so detected and the lane in which the vehicle is travelling; and
 - (ii) the device must be checked to ensure that the device—
 - (A) indicates the correct date, time and code for the location at which exposures or electronic records are taken or made by the device; and
 - (B) is set to operate in accordance with paragraph (c); and
 - (iii) if a fault is indicated by the test referred to in subparagraph (i), corrective action must be taken and the test must be repeated until no fault is indicated; and
 - (iv) if a fault is indicated by the check referred to in subparagraph (ii), corrective action must be taken until no fault is indicated;
- (e) if that part of the road surface under which the induction loop is installed has 2 or more lanes for vehicles travelling in the same direction, the test referred to in paragraph (d)(i) is not required to be carried out in relation to each such lane in the same 7 day period provided that, once in every 7 days, the test is carried out in relation to 1 of those lanes and the lane in relation to which the test is carried out is not the same as the lane in relation to which the previous test was carried out;
- (f) after a person relocates the device, or a portion of the device, with recording media in place to a location at which it is to be used to provide evidence of offences referred to in this regulation, that person must do the following:
- (i) ensure that the induction loop is correctly installed as referred to in paragraph (a) and that each camera forming part of the device is correctly positioned and aimed as referred to in paragraph (b);
 - (ii) ensure that the test and check referred to in paragraph (d) are carried out and—
 - (A) if a fault is indicated by the test, take corrective action and repeat the test until no fault is indicated;
 - (B) if a fault is indicated by the check, take corrective action until no fault is indicated;
- (g) after a person relocates the device, or a portion of the device, with recording media in place to a location at which it is to be used to provide evidence of offences referred to in regulation 17, the person must comply with regulation 17(2)(i);

- (h) if—
 - (i) a test or check; or
 - (ii) in the case of a wet film camera—the film when developed; or
 - (iii) in the case of a digital or other electronic camera—any electronic record made by the camera,
